Corporate Membership

Your corporate membership allows you to nominate four women as members. These nominations are transferrable to other employees and may even be used in different Clubs if you wish to nominate four women in different locations. Once your membership fee has been received, your local Club will contact you to confirm the names and details of your organisation's nominated members. This is also a good time to nominate additional women employees at a discounted membership rate if you wish to enlarge the group of women in your organisation who benefit from your corporate membership.

Badges - 4 x principal (full)

BPW Club location choice:

Information provided on this form is kept private and confidential and may only be used within BPW Australia and will not be used for any other purpose.

You may change your personal privacy settings to allow a public profile if you choose to do so, by updating your member profile details on the BPW website. Access to your member profile is available after your membership has been confirmed.

Our advocacy, projects, programs and partnerships focus on but not limited to issues that affect women and workplaces such as pay inequity, accessible and affordable childcare, lack of support for women's refuges and domestic violence. Our clubs offer scholarships and bursaries for young women in school and university. We partner with other organisations on international projects and campaigns including International Women's Day and the Women's Empowerment Principles plus aligning to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDG).
